MILES PRAISES
ENTIRE ARMY

The Lieutenant General's Annual Report Is Very Brief, But Also Very Complimentary.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—The annual report of Lieutenant General Miles, commanding the army, is a brief review of the reports that have been submitted to him by other officers. He indorses the recommendation of General Brooke for a readjustment of the geographical limits of the several departments with a view to equalizing conditions; urges the necessity of quarters for troops, particularly the artillery; calls attention to "the incomplete condition of the fortifications, especially on the Pacific coast," says the Indians are quiet and in a satisfactory condition, praises the work of the soldiers under General Baldwin in Mindanao, in the only serious engagement of the year, and concludes:

Personnel Good "The personnel of the army was never in better condition. This is proved by the fortitude, skill and heroism displayed in mortal combat wherever the army has been engaged in any part of the world in the last four years. During that time many changes have occurred and the army has been very largely increased. The long and varied service of the senior officers, their experience in organizing, disciplining, instructing and leading their commands, as well as the excellent discipline, instruction and exemplary conduct of the soldiers of the army of 1898, have been the leaven of the army of the present time. Evils may creep into any system or great organization. Such as have affected our army have been or will be eradicated."

ROOSEVELT IS IN NEW QUARTERS

He Has Established Himself in the White House Office Just Completed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt was today at his desk in the new executive offices adjoining the White House for the first time. He received a number of callers, including Attorney General Knox, Colonel Clayton McMichael, postmaster at Philadelphia, and the members of the Civil Service Commission, with whom he discussed charges of violation of the civil service laws in Pennsylvania. The President expressed to Colonel McMichael gratification over the election result in Pennsylvania, saying that next to New York his principal interest was in the Keystone state.

Is Unpretentious The new office building itself is very unpretentious. It is one story, of brick, painted white, and has three Roman Doric columns at the entrance. In a general way the severe classic style of architecture of the White House has been followed. Behind a reception room is the large room of Secretary Cortelyou. The President's room is in the southeast corner. It overlooks the White lot and commands a fine view of Arlington and the Broad Potomac. On the north it opens into the cabinet room. This wing communicates directly with the White House by means of a walk under the old terrace, which was formerly the foundation of the conservatory. The west side of the building is occupied by the executive clerks.

Leaves Monday President Roosevelt will leave here next Monday at midnight and will not return to Washington until after the reception to Vice Governor Luke Wright of Tennessee at Memphis, Nov. 19. He will attend the dedication of the Chamber of Commerce Building in New York on Tuesday and Tuesday night will make a speech at the Chamber of Commerce dinner.

The next day he will go west and south. His exact itinerary has not been announced.

SAIL 1400 MILES
IN OPEN BOAT

Crew of Wrecked Vessel Reaches New York and Tells Its Experiences.

New York, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—After a 1,400 mile jaunt in an open boat with water soaked bread and moldy beef, Capt. J. Nevins Kay, his young wife, nine seamen, and "Whiskers" the goat, of the British barkentine Florence arrived here today from St. George, Grenada, on the steamship Grenada. The barkentine sailed for Buenos Ayres from Bear River, N. S., on Aug. 11, with 500 tons of spruce deal. It ran into a hurricane on Sept. 18, and in an hour's time was dismantled. The crew struck to the ship until Oct. 15 when they set sail in a lifeboat. Ten days later they arrived at Granada, having sighted not a single vessel until the night before they landed at Granada.

His Story Capt. Kay said: "Nobody had any belongings to take away from the ship, and our only cargo was fifty pounds of salt beef, and about thirty-five gallons of water. I fixed up a cabin for my wife so that we were all fairly comfortable, although on account of being so close to the water, it was hot."

"We made good headway, having the advantage of the time, and logged as much as 140 miles a day. For our daily rations we had two quarts of water and two pounds of bread. Some of the men were sick but nobody grumbled. My wife stood the hardship better than any of us."

Saw Three Steamers "The night before we made St. George we saw three steamers some distance off. We could not attract their attention. Next day we made the harbor and when our little boat was rowed in, a big crowd of negroes was lined upon shore. We got dry clothes. Somebody photographed us in a group, and five or six churches took up a collection for us that amounted to $75."

RIOTOUS TIMES

Dissension Between Roman and Philippine Catholics—Gov. Taft Peace Maker.

Manila, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The Pandacan church here has been the scene of a serious riot and many arrests have been made. A portion of the congregation announced its intention a week ago of joining the Philippine Catholic church, and the pastor, Father Sorrondo, preached a sermon, denouncing the dissidents.

It was asserted that Father Sorrondo during his sermon violated confessional secrets, and he was later attacked in the streets. All those concerned in the disturbance were arrested. The dissidents recaptured the building, and on Thursday "Bishop" Aglipay, the leader of the dissident movement, celebrated mass there before a large crowd. Later the dissidents drew up a deed of gift transferring the property to the government and offered the deed to Governor Taft with the keys of the building. The governor replied that the church belonged to the Roman Catholics. He advised the dissidents to surrender if they thought that they had rights in the case, and strongly counseled them against disorder.

Accept Advice The dissidents accepted his advice and surrendered possession of the church. During the quarrels crowds of natives surrounded the edifice, and a strong detachment of police alone prevented a serious outbreak.

LESTER IS RELEASED FROM MURDER CHARGE

Justice Holds Evidence Insufficient to Hold Accused for the Killing of Fred Larimore.

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 7.—Millard Fillmore Lester, accused of the murder of Fred Larimore at Plainville, was discharged. When the preliminary examination had been concluded Justice Morehead announced that the state had not produced sufficient evidence to warrant him in holding the prisoner for trial. Sixteen witnesses related to the time when Lester was last seen in Plainville the night of the murder. He himself had said that he started home at 8:15 o'clock and was in bed at 9. The fatal shot was fired about 8:30. The scene is almost two miles from Lester's home. None of the witnesses was sure that he had seen Lester after 8:15 o'clock, but several persons who passed through his only road home after that hour had not seen him. The threats made by Lester appear to have been made eight months ago and only recently Lester told Isaac M. Larimore, father of the murdered youth, that his own daughter and not Larimore's son was the most to blame for the relations that were causing scandals in the community.

RAISES A NEW LEGAL QUESTION

Insurance Company May Contest Claim of Widow Who Killed Spouse.

Carthage, Mo., Nov. 7.—Can a beneficiary who, acting in self-defense, takes the life of the insured receive the insurance? A legal question having no parallel in Missouri law decisions has grown out of the tragedy in this city in which Mrs. Dorinda Randall shot and killed her husband, R. O. Randall, as he approached her with an open knife. Randall carried life insurance to the amount of $1,000. His wife was named as the beneficiary of the policy. She now seeks to recover the amount of the policy, but there is a probability that the company will refuse to recognize the claim because the beneficiary killed the insured.

TOBACCO CROP MOVES SLOWLY

DEALERS SAY THE PRICES ARE TOO HIGH NOW.

STOCK IS GOOD THIS YEAR

While It Moves Very Sparingly, Many Buyers Have Their Entire Stock.

About 50 per cent of the 1902 crop has already been purchased by the dealers and the buying has slackened up considerably. This means that the choice crops have already been purchased, and what remains in the hands of the growers is of poorer quality and its purchase requires more caution than was necessary earlier in the season.

Some of the buyers are still riding and buying some tobacco each day, but the majority prefer to wait until the crop is stripped and shows what it is like, before purchasing the balance.

There is of course a considerable amount of good tobacco in the hands of the growers. In most cases the reason these crops are not sold is that the grower asks a higher figure than the dealers are willing to pay at present, and hope the demand for the crop will be such that they will get their price later in the season.

There are conflicting reports about the curing, but as near as can be ascertained the leaf is doing remarkably well and will come into the hands of the warehousemen showing very little if any damage.

It is expected that the warehouses will open earlier this year than usual and already a number of dealers have engaged their forces for the sorting season to be sure and have sufficient help to start with.

The general New York leaf market is not dead yet as idle gossip has proved by some old time transactions which were effected by some of our prominent houses in Water street, the details of which are given in another place. The house in question sold 600 cases of Connecticut broad leaf in one lot to a cigar manufacturing firm and if one firm has picked up enough courage to again provide itself with a year's supply others are bound to follow suit. While the present demand may still be mostly for immediate needs such a condition can not last much longer if the independent manufacturer wants to remain in the race for the survival of the fittest.

Connecticut Valley.
The evident difference of opinion regarding the new tobacco crop in this section has made sales lag a little and business is therefore, rather satisfactory. The growers feel confident that packers cannot do without their leaf and are, therefore, determined to hold out for prices which buyers at present consider unwarranted. It is a most perplexing situation and the farmers seem to have the better of the argument, especially as they keep themselves fully posted as to the enormous increase in the cigar output. But there has been many rumors concerning the quality of the crop, and buyers, who are probably willing to pay a fair or even a high price for suitable leaf, naturally hesitate until they can determine the truth or falsity of these rumors. It is generally held that the later portion of the crop has not turned out so well as the earlier harvested, and until this belief is shown to be unfounded, it is hardly likely that the high prices demanded will be realized. But farmers have no disposition to admit damage, and many have announced their intention of doing their own assorting and packing and holding it until they can get what they consider it worth. There has been several sales of 1901 leaf at prices considerably higher than could have been obtained last winter, and growers are pointing to this fact as a reason why they should hold on to their leaf. Altogether it seems like a waiting game on both sides.

New York.
There is still a lack of life in the tobacco trade of this vicinity, and sales are conspicuous by their absence. There are plenty of buyers around, but they are watching the curing of the leaf before venturing into the field, and all hands are quiet. The growers claim that the crop is up to the average, which, last year, was rather low, by the way, but packers are doubtful as to what is meant by an average crop and decline to purchase until the true condition of the leaf can be learned. There are no sales reported.

Ohio.
The weather during the past two weeks has been much more favorable to the curing of tobacco than has been experienced since the leaf was hung, and a continuance of the sun and mild weather will undoubtedly prove of great benefit to the new crop. There have been no sales as yet, but buyers are commencing to arrive and if no mishap occurs the absorption of the crop will soon begin. There are occasional deliveries of old seed leaf and zimmer.

Pennsylvania.
The apparent success which has attended the experiment of growing Sumatran tobacco under cover in New York county has so enthused a number of growers there that a number of others now speak of going into the scheme next spring. Will it pay a man to grow only an acre or two, even if the tobacco turns out all right? What can be done with so small a quantity?

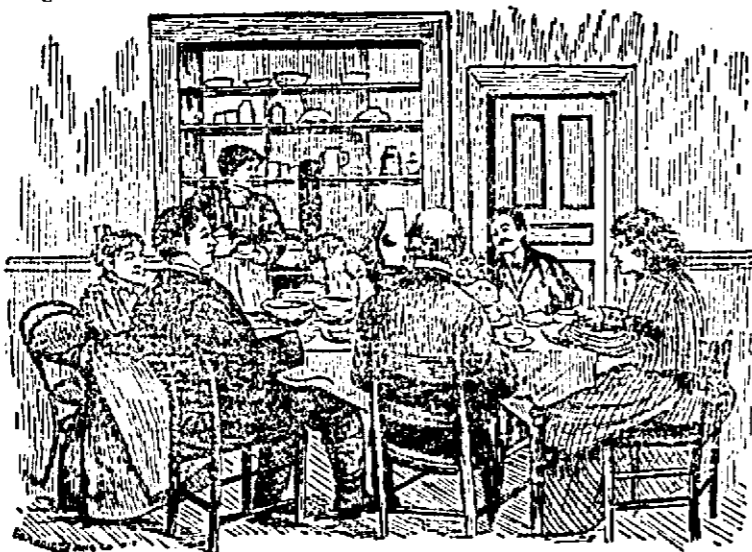

St. Louis.
There is no cessation of activity in any branch of our tobacco trade. The tobacco factories and cigar manufacturers are still going full tilt, but the latter are still on the lookout for cigar makers. Our tobacco and cigar jobs are very busy and every dealer is wearing a smile of complacent content. Leaf dealers are having some trouble in supplying blinder wants, that is, at the old prices. There has been quite a cleaning up of old Connecticut wrapper in the past few weeks. Reports of damage in the new were responsible for this, but the opinion of many is that there will be just such a scramble for the 1901, but it will come a little later on. In this connection it is pertinent to mention some of the wonderful yields reported from the 1901 wrappers. Cases yielding 30,000 to 100,000 wrappers are reported daily. Such tobacco certainly will not go begging.

Milwaukee.
Leaf business has shown quite an improvement during the week and most of the jobs were kept busy filling orders. Collections are fair, but there is room for improvement. Cincinnati

The cigar leaf market is in a very satisfactory condition and all report an excellent demand for all lines of goods. No favorites are playing except they be good tobacco at cheap prices, and they are rare this year. The domestic goods, in spite of the high prices, are experiencing a great demand, and Havana and Sumatra are also not being neglected. The market, taking it all in all, is firm and steady.

Chicago.
The leaf business is in good shape. Connecticut is the leader and is selling briskly, though supplies are somewhat light. The demand is in part due to the large consumption of Connecticut wrapper over Havana filled.

ANNA YOU SIT DOWN MRS. BARTLETT, I'LL POUR THE TEA.

Philadelphia.
The end of October has brought no marked increase to the tobacco business in this city, an increase that was expected soon after the first of September, and now almost two months have elapsed, the dealers are becoming restless and looking about for a cause for the continued dullness. It is explainable in their minds only by the high prices that are being asked, brought about by the only fairly satisfactory condition of the 1901 crop of tobacco. The only thing that is being purchased to any quantity is blinder. Havana is moving a little better, but business is Sumatra is quite active.

Looking Backward.
There was an automobilist who struck a hippopotamus. He viewed the grave results and sighed.

"My goodness gracious! What a muss!" —Judge.

What's the secret of happy, vigorous health? Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and the kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it. Diphtheria relieved in twenty minutes. Almost miraculous. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug store. "Little Colds" neglected—thousands of lives sacrificed every year. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cures little colds—cures big ones too, down to the very verge of consumption. Years of suffering relieved in a night. Itching piles yield at once to the curative properties of Doan's Ointment. Never fails. At any drug store.

WAY DOWN EAST

Charming Rural Play At The Opera House Tonight

"Way Down East" Wm. A. Brady's elaborate production will be seen at the Myers Grand this evening. While it may be said that the story is somewhat conventional, it is told most realistically and its characters are clean cut portraits. It has several scenes of remarkable strength and beauty and many picturesque bits. As a production it will easily rank with any ever built by Manager Brady which statement means a great deal, when one considers some of the dramas with which his name has been associated for the past dozen years. The author Little Blair Parker was born and reared among the people of whom she writes and she knows them thoroughly. Her characters are the living people of the country of her play. There is a living tenderness in the rugged old squire and his dear old wife; there is a personal pride in the honest young farmer; a rich appreciation of native humor in the portrayal of the ubiquitous choro boy and the whole lot of rural individuals who wend their quaint way through the tale. The heart chord is touched and that is the sure note of way down east. Everybody in Janesville who takes an interest in the theater will want to see "Way Down East," and will be all the better for having witnessed it.

Banda Rossa.
Sorrentino and his famous Banda Rossa, best of European bands and the only foreign band which has had the courage to follow Sousa into his own land, will appear at the Myers Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening.

This reference to the two bandmasters in the same paragraph is not so far-fetched as some critical folk may imagine. Sorrentino is to his native land what Sousa is to the United States. Both have been called march kings and both have written stirring melodies. The Italian band presents a picturesque appearance. The musicians wear red tunics and caps, liberally decorated with gold braid, and not a few of them wear medals awarded in competitions in their own sunny Italy. To the blind music of the cornet or trumpet, as it is called abroad, invariably suggests red, and as the Banda Rossa has among its members several celebrated trumpeters, an Eastern critic, in reviewing one of the concerts, wrote that even the band's uniform harmonized with its music.

ARMY IS BROUGHT DOWN TO MINIMUM

ONLY HOSPITAL AND SIGNAL CORPS MEN WANTED.

ORDERS FOR LOCAL STATION

Private Blake Instructed What Men to Take—In Accordance with War Department Order.

Following the order received last week by Private Blake of the Recruiting service, not to take men in the infantry and cavalry branches another order has been received which still further limits the number of places to be filled. Capt. Frank B. C. McCoy of the 3rd infantry was in the city from Milwaukee yesterday and he gave these latest instructions to Mr. Blake.

Hospital and Signal Only.
Recruits will now be received only in the hospital and signal corps. Men who have been discharged from the service within three months may be re-enlisted for coast or field artillery, but that is the only exception that will be made. Musicians are greatly desired for duty in the cavalry band for Fort Assiniboine, Montana.

Down to Minimum.
These orders have come from the recent restrictions placed on the size of the army, by the war department reducing it to the minimum. The minimum, including the staff department is 50,866, while the line alone amounts to 56,959 men.

Good Chance in Band.
Special opportunities for good pay are offered in the cavalry band for any who enlist in that branch of the service. Out of the twenty-eight men who comprise a regimental cavalry band, sixteen are non-commissioned officers, and only eleven of the number are privates; one man is carried as cook. The rank of the "horns-coms" ranges from that of chief musician to corporal and it is said that advancement is rapid for a capable musician.

TALL CORN

doesn't come by accident. A fertile soil and careful cultivation are necessary to produce the towering stems and heavy ears.

Yet the farmer who understands that he can't have a healthy corn crop without feeding and weeding, seems to think that he can have a healthy body without either care or culture. But the body is built up just as the corn is, by the assimilation of the several chemical elements on which vitality depends. And what weeds are to the corn, diseases of the stomach and nutritive systems are to the body; they divert the necessary food supply from the proper channels, and the body becomes lean, sickly and ill-nourished.

The proper digestion and assimilation of food is a primary essential of health. By healing diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery increases the digestive and assimilative powers, stimulates the action of the blood-making glands, and sends to every organ of the body the rich red-corpuscled blood on which physical vigor and vitality depend.

"I took two bottles of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carnes, Esq., of Taylorsville, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine, how it had cured his wife. I thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad that I did, for I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels and cure constipation.

Shot-Gun Prescriptions.

We suppose we are not revealing any trade secret when we say that many medicines are made up on the principle of the so-called "shot-gun prescriptions," which were formerly somewhat in vogue.

The idea of the shot-gun prescription was to put in a large number of different drugs, each useful for different purposes, in the hope that some of them might hit the case.

Vinol, the medicine we sell over our name and guarantee, is not a scattering "shot-gun prescription," but goes straight to the mark.

It is the best thing we know for a run-down condition, for a listless feeling, nerve troubles, for lung troubles—in fact, it is a safe, pleasant, reliable tonic and reconstructer.

It has cured so many people right here in town we offer money back if it fails to benefit.
